

FAITH & CULTURAL GROUPS TRANSPORT (FACT)

Is your faith or cultural group transport safe and legal?

Find peace of mind by joining the UK's best source of advice to faith and cultural groups on how to provide safe and legal transport.

Though not their primary purpose, occasionally faith and cultural groups get involved in organising transport to meetings, services and other events. However, with the increasing raft of regulations governing transport provision, running a minibus or MPV is not as straightforward as you might think.

- FACT - Operating transport is time consuming and more complex than it may at first appear.
- FACT - As a transport provider, even if this is not your main function, you have a duty of care towards those you may be transporting – not least to ensure that you are operating a safe and legal service
- FACT - The CTA can help with advice and support.

Some of the questions which anybody involved in organising transport for faith and cultural groups need to be able to answer are:

- Do I need a Section 19 or Section 10b permit and if so, where can I get one?
- Do I need to sit a new test to drive a minibus or am I covered by my existing licence?
- Do I need specialist training for safe minibus driving?
- What do I need to do before I can legally take a minibus to Europe?

The Community Transport Association has been answering these questions and more for a wide range of different organisations, including Faith and Cultural Groups for 25 years. Membership gives you access to the UK's most authoritative source of advice and information on any aspect of transport provision outside mainstream public and commercial services.

Join our low cost membership scheme for Faith and Cultural Groups today and you will receive the following benefits:

- Access to free legal and technical advice that will answer all your questions
- Issue of Section 19 or Section 10b permits for members
